2013-14 Brentford F.C. season The 2013-14 season was Brentford's 127th year in existence and third season in the fourth tier of English football, the League One. Along with competing in League One, the club also participated in the FA Cup and League Cup. Brentford's 2013-14 opening day victory was the club's first ever competitive victory since the 2011-12 League Two season. Unfortunately for manager Uwe Rösler, the Bees lost their first competitive match to Brentford F.C. at Ashton Gate three days later in the EFL Trophy. The club won their next two matches away from home, before their league unbeaten run was ended by Scunthorpe United in December. Brentford maintained their league form well, maintaining four successive victories after the winter break, but were beaten by Brighton & Hove Albion in March. The end of the season was dominated by the FA Cup, in which the club reached the third round for the third successive year. The Bees defeated Northampton Town at Wembley, before losing to an early goal to Everton in the fourth round. The club suffered a major setback towards the end of the campaign, as striker Fernando Forestieri was loaned to Spanish side Barcelona B until the end of the season. On the final day of the season, Brentford were involved in the biggest moment of the season for the club,
