PHPMaker 2019.0.3.0 Extensions Â· e.World Tech PHPMaker 2019.0.3.0 Extensions Learning from others and suffering: a comparative approach. We propose a comparative approach to the question of whether learning from others is an important aspect of human evolution and to the question of whether learning from others is beneficial or harmful. On the basis of the principles of comparative cognition, the relevance of cognitive state and local cultural variation are considered. Our approach includes three comparative principles. First, we show that the distinction between the modes of cognitive variation is analogous to the distinction between the two ways that environmental factors can affect cognition (adaptation versus information). Second, we
